LA COMPAÑIA BANANERA ESTA ENSAYANDO UN NUEVO SISTEMA PARA LA SIEMBRA DEL CACAO CON BUENOS RESULTADOS

Un grupo de caballeros de Limón irá mañana a visitar en Zent las plantaciones que está llevando a cabo la Compañía Bananera con cacao por medio del sistema de estacas en vez de semillas como se ha ejecutado siempre. Parece que los resultados obtenidos son espléndidos en cuanto a la producción que corrientemente producen las fincas actualmente.

Según los datos que hemos podido obtener el sistema de siembra por estacas reduce el tiempo de cosecha a la mitad. Es decir que matas de un año y ocho meses están en producción con enorme rendimiento.

Si los datos que nos han suministrado son exactos, la siembra de cacao sería la salvación de la provincia atlántica, ya que podría producir diez veces más a precios muy inferiores de lo que ahora resulta, debido a los altos jornales que se están pagando.

Se nos ha ofrecido, para el próximo número, un detalle completo y un estudio comparativo que estimamos de especial interés para nuestra provincia y que publicaremos si nos es posible conseguirlo a tiempo.

En Siquirres no ha podido distribuirse el azucar

Nuestro corresponsal de Siquirres nos evisa que desde principios de esta semana no se distribuye azúcar en Siquirres porque los encarratados de su venta se niegan a retirar el azúcar del Banco mientras no se les permita venderlo a sesenta centavos la libra. Alegan los interesados que ellos tienen que invertir una fuerte cantidad de dinero para la compra del azúcar y que el precio a que lo compran no permite ninguna utilidad vendiendo a cincuenta y cinco centavos como es el precio fijado. En cuanto a los otros lugares del Cantón la situación es todavía peor pues hay que cargarle el valor de los fletes y entonces la venta deja pérdidas que ningún comerciante quiere aceptar.

Entendemos que se han dirigido al señor Administrador:

General de precios planteándole el problema con todos los detalles y esperan que les sea resuelto favorablemente.

En lo que se refiere a Limón y al Cantón Central la situación es parecida y si no se ha suspendido la distribución es porque la Junta acatando instrucciones del señor Gobernador, mantiene la distribución mientras se resuelve la situación en una forma u otra. En Guápiles es igual el problema.

Hasta el momento en que escribimos estas líneas, miércoles, la situación sigue lo mismo con grave perjuicio del consumidor ya que el azúcar resulta un artículo de primera necesidad que no puede faltar en los hogares pobres que sean. Informaremos lo que se resuelva sobre el particular.

Vehículos protegidos contra las minas enemigas

WASHINGTON. — Los técnicos del ejército de los Estados Unidos han ideado un sistema para proteger de graves lesiones a los ocupantes de vehículos militares ligeros cuando una mina terrestre estalla bajo de ellos.

Según anuncia la Secretaría de Guerra, el dispositivo es un piso formado por cinco planchas de lindaja, tratadas térmicamente para aumentar su resistencia. El lindaje cubre el eje delantero y en ruedas ejecutadas últimamente se hicieron estallar minas debajo de vehículos provistos del nuevo piso, aunque éste se abolló quedando intactos los vehículos pudieron continuar su marcha.

Nuevo sistema de encendido para la aviación

WASHINGTON. — Una fábrica de aviones de los Estados Unidos ha perfeccionado un nuevo sistema de encendido que permite un funcionamiento más eficaz de los aviones a gran altura. El nuevo sistema está ya instalado en aviones de combate y con él se salvan muchas de las dificultades de que adolecían hasta ahora los motores de aviación. El nuevo encendido trabaja efectivamente en alturas de quinientos metros.

Instrucción por radio

WASHINGTON. — La instrucción por radio, o sea la difusión de programas culturales y de enseñanza, según la Comisión Federal de Comunicaciones gozará de gran demanda en los Estados Unidos en el futuro. La comisión dijo últimamente veinte horas de frecuencia modulada para uso de la guerra. La comisión dijo que la Dirección de Instrucción Pública pronostica que por y menos quinientas estaciones especializadas dentro de los próximos cinco años, abarcando al 84 por ciento de la población del país. El plan prevé un sistema uniforme de estaciones difusoras de instrucción, inclusive cursos por correspondencia de las universidades.

Jueves comenzó a funcionar nuevamente la refrigeradora del Mercado Municipal Después de cuatro años de estar inútil el jueves pasado comenzó a funcionar la refrigeradora del Mercado Municipal. Se habían hecho todos los esfuerzos posibles por repararla pero la falta de gas monóxido que no se conseguía en el país, impidió su reparación. Fue reparada por el experto mecánico don Gabriel de la Peña y funciona admirablemente. Ahora volverá a implantarse nuevamente el sistema de refrigeración de la carne que deberá estar veinticuatro horas en refrigeración. Por este procedimiento volverá el público a comer buena carne ya que actualmente se mata a las cuatro de la mañana para vender a las cinco y media.

ALGUNAS INSTRUCCIONES SOBRE EL GIRASOL, DE INTERES PARA LOS AGRICULTORES

Damos a continuación, solamente, algunos datos sobre el girasol, que podrán servir a los agricultores interesados en efectuar ensayos, con este cultivo, que como se comprende fácilmente, podrá llegar a ocupar el lugar del maíz dadas sus características afines y la adaptabilidad de esta oleaginosa a las zonas ocupadas por la gramíneas, amén de su mayor resistencia a las sequías.

Clima.—Requiere esta oleaginosa un clima templado cálido, y cálido normalmente.

Braden exhorta que se mantenga vigilancia contra posibles agresores

WASHINGTON. — El Subsecretario de Estado, Spruille Braden, declaró en esta ciudad que la vigilancia de los Estados Unidos contra posibles agresores siempre ha estado en el mundo de la postguerra y que el país debe hallarse en disposición de defender los derechos y la dignidad del individuo.

Braden, ex-Embajador de los Estados Unidos en Argentina, cuya nominación para la Secretaría de Estado por el Ex-Presidente Truman fue aprobada unánimemente por el Senado, dijo en un banquete el día de ayer que el mundo no debe comprometer y perder durante la paz los principios por los cuales luchó, y con sus aliados, ganó la guerra.

Braden dijo que era conveniente recordar que los nazis, aunque derrotados en los frentes de batalla, no han sido aún erradicados.

Idelogías nocivas

"Sobreviven en gran número," continuó diciendo, "para disimular sus maléficas ideologías, y ocultar, incitar a sus satélites y pequeños imitadores. A este respecto puedo hablar basándome en mis propias observaciones. He presenciado el sufrimiento de una gran nación, que diez años atrás, tal como lo hicieron nosotros, hubiera dicho con absoluta convicción "no puede suceder aquí, y sin embargo, hoy ha sucedido allí."
"Yo he sentido el peso de la depresión que se apoderó de un pueblo cruelmente abusado por uno que se llama a sí mismo su salvador, apoyado por una camaxilla de imitadores de su prototipo nazi europeo... Leemos en nuestros diarios matutinos que se ha declarado un "estado de sitio" en este o aquel país, comprendiendo pronto, si nos comprendemos, el terror y la pérdida que significan esas palabras."
"Un "estado de sitio" es la negación de la Declaración de Derechos en que se basa nuestra Constitución nacional, la misma Declaración de Derechos en que se basa nuestra existencia nacional, la misma Declaración de Derechos por cuya preservación hemos librado esta y otras guerras. Un "estado de sitio" suspende todo gobierno representativo, los libertades civiles, el derecho de reunión y tanto la libertad de prensa como la libertad de palabra.

En términos más concretos, un "estado de sitio" permite que funcionarios vándicos atropellen al ciudadano pacífico, sencillamente con un golpe de hierro golpear la cara de una mujer sólo porque grita "viva la democracia." Permite el arresto sin acusación. Permite la tortura. Permite que policías montados, blandiendo sables, pisquen bombas, mujeres y niños... Eso, y mucho más, es lo que un "estado de sitio" significa...
"De la misma manera que sinceramente nos apenamos por un pueblo sometido a semejante opresión y censuramos a los opresores, debemos mantenernos alerta como en los días más negros de la guerra para hacer frente a la amenaza latente en la pervivencia de tales condiciones. No olvidemos que los nazis europeos comenzaron por subyugar a sus propios pueblos antes de subyugar a sus vecinos. La historia no debe repetirse!"

Los Aviones sobrantes se venderán a compradores Americanos en Miami

Aviones sobrantes

MIAMI.—Para acelerar la venta de aviones sobrantes a las otras repúblicas de América se inaugurará en Miami hacia el primero de enero próximo uno de los centros comerciales de aviación más grandes y mejor surtidos del mundo.

El anuncio fue hecho en Washington por Thomas B. McCabe, Director de Liquidaciones para el ejército y la marina de los Estados Unidos. La oficina de ventas se constituirá en el Terminal Aéreo de Miami y se denominará Centro de Ventas para la Exportación. McCabe ha dicho que "con la estrecha cooperación de las fuerzas aéreas del ejército, el centro de exportación de Miami ofrecerá una oportunidad excelente para disponer del excedente de aviones."
"También ofrecerá," dijo, "oportunidades iguales a las otras repúblicas de América para examinar y comprar aviones y piezas de repuesto que sobreviven a todos los países americanos."

De este modo será posible adquirir aviones y material de aviación sin necesidad de ir a Washington. Las licencias de exportación se expedirán en el propio centro de ventas y éstas serán válidas por períodos de la aviación.

Los aviones y materiales vendrán solamente a clientes de los otros países América y se espera que entre los compradores figuren las agencias americanas, firmas aéreas, empresas diversas y particulares.
El local del centro de ventas está en construcción y contendrá una amplia sala de exhibición, oficina de salos, conedores y dormitorios para los visitantes y dormitorios para todo el local gozará de aire acondicionado.
Tan pronto como se inaugure oficialmente el centro en enero próximo, se enviarán a Miami para su exhibición centenares de aviones sobrantes.
La sala de exhibición medirá 400 por 70 metros y contendrá asientos para 100 instrumentos, balanzas, alfileras, paracaidas, artículos diversos, notificaciones, etc. En otras salas se exhibirán los 600,000 artículos distintos que emplean las fuerzas aéreas del ejército de los Estados Unidos.

NOTAS DE AGRICULTURA
(VIENE de la Pág UNO) —
húmedo; soporta bien la sequía. Tiene las mismas exigencias de clima que el maíz. La madurez de la semilla está en relación con el clima del lugar, la temperatura y las lluvias.

Suelo.—Las tierras fértiles, ricas y profundas, bien provistas de materia orgánica, con preferencia las arenos-arcillosas, sueltas y filtrantes, son las que se adaptan al cultivo del girasol. Puede cultivarse esta oleaginosa en aquellas regiones en donde el maíz rinde poco por razón de clima o fracasa por falta de lluvias.

Siembr.—Cuando hay buena humedad en el suelo, y sobre todo suficientes lluvias se puede pensar en la siembra. Se prepara el suelo en hileras sobre surcos paralelos abiertos con distancia de unos 30 cms. de mata a mata, colocando en cada hueco que se abra de cuatro a cinco semillas. A las calles se les dará un ancho de 80 cms., o algo más si se van a hacer cultivos intercalados. Las semillas germinarán rápidamente, y a los ocho días se observará el crecimiento parejo del campo.

Labores culturales.—Entrosaca o raleo.—Germinadas las plantitas, de los 10 a los 20 días, se procede a la entrosaca o raleo, dejando de cada grupo una o dos más fuertes, preferible una sola, arrancando con cuidado las que se elminen para no estropear las que quedan. Esta operación debe siempre encomendarse a trabajadores expertos. Limpias después de la operación anterior, habrá que mantener el suelo removido, suelto y limpio de hierbas. Se puede usar un tipo de cultivador apropiado para romper los lomillos, y las matas se aporcan cuando alcancen de 47 a 50 cms de altura. Podas: La poda o supresión de botones se hace al tiempo de la floración, cortando todas las res secundarias y dejando únicamente la flor terminal en cada tallo. Cuando la flor está bien desarrollada, se puede cortar las hojas empezando de abajo hasta la mitad o do-terceras partes, y éstas pueden utilizarse como ensilaje y alimentación de vacunos.

Recolección.—Cuando el girasol está en buen punto o sazón, y los capítulos se han inclinado hacia el suelo presentando una coloración críptica, se procede a la recolección. Generalmente esto se efectúa después de los tres y medio a los cuatro meses de la siembra. Un punto para conocer la madurez del girasol es cuando las florecillas que cubren las semillas se desprenden solas o a la ligera fricción con la mano. Debe tenerse presente que no es importante la madurez del tallo sino el de la semilla. La cosecha se efectúa a mano, con ayuda de un machete afilado o con una tijera de podar, cortando los tallos que llevan las flores a 20 cms. de la base. Se llevan éstos a una plataforma o a un piso endurecido para completar la desecación.

Desgrano.—Ya sea golpeando las flores unas con otras, o pegándoles golpes livianos con una vara, o por medio de las mismas trilladoras que se usan para cereales, se desprenden los granos de la flor. Luego se aseolan por varios días hasta que sequen completamente y se pasan por una zaranda a fin de eliminar pedacillos o fragmentos de flores que puedan causar fermentación en las semillas. Las semillas ya limpias, deben ser removidas por varios días, ensacándose al final o almacenándose en algún sitio a propósito que asegure su conservación.

Desgrano.—Ya sea golpeando. — El girasol puede rendir alrededor de mil kilogramos de grano limpio y seco al sol por hectárea. Contando con condiciones meteorológicas apropiadas, produciendo una atención esmerada

NOTAS EDITORIALES UN MATADERO MODERNO

En la semana pasada llegó a esta ciudad un delegado del Servicio Cooperativo Interamericano de Salud Pública. Vino no solamente a estudiar los planos del nuevo Matadero que va a construir la Municipalidad de Limón, sino también a presentar algunas sugerencias para modernizar el sistema de sacrificio de los animales, la distribución de los distintos departamentos y el destace de los animales para la venta al público. Conversó extensamente con el ingeniero Municipal don Rogelio Pardo y llegaron a un acuerdo sobre todos los detalles que se discutieron en relación propiamente con la construcción y acondicionamiento del edificio.

Resta ahora que la Corporación Municipal apruebe las sugerencias en lo que se refiere al sacrificio de los animales y al sistema de destace que son de una gran importancia. Aquí sacrificamos las reses por un sistema antiguo que convierte esa necesidad inevitable de matar, en un espectáculo doloroso y cruel que es posible evitar con elementos modernos. Aquí también destazamos antojadizamente sin el menor conocimiento de la anatomía y sin una selección de las partes de la res donde pueden obtenerse diferencias de carne que se pierden lastimosamente.

Ahora que está al frente del departamento del matadero un competente veterinario, sería fácil reglamentar estos servicios y enseñar a los destazadores las ventajas que pueden obtener ellos y el público con la modernización de estos servicios.

Si usted padece frecuentes dolores de cintura, es muy probable que sus riñones no funcionan bien. Entre los órganos más atareados del organismo, están los riñones. Actúan como filtros, encargados de eliminar de la sangre las impurezas y venenos. Los riñones débiles e inactivos no pueden realizar esta tarea en debida forma. Mientras no sean activados usted no podrá aliviar sus dolores sacros o agudos.

He aquí por qué las Píldoras De Witt para los Riñones y la Vejiga son elaboradas especialmente para que obren directamente sobre los riñones. Por este motivo alivian los dolores de cintura desde la primera dosis. Dentro de las 24 horas de haber empezado tomarlas, la orina se volverá azulada. Esto demuestra que el excelente medicamento que contienen las Píldoras De Witt ejerce su acción en la propia raíz del mal, en los riñones. Tan pronto como llegan a los riñones, los ingredientes medicinales de las Píldoras De Witt ejercen su acción beneficiosa, aliviando la inflamación, descongestionando y restableciendo el buen funcionamiento de dichos órganos. —BALFOUR Y EL LIBRO BLANCO—

El 2 de noviembre de 1917 un documento pequeño, apenas de unas pocas palabras, trajo una nueva esperanza al pueblo judío. De la existencia más incierta y menos segura. El judaísmo mundial y con él, el judío como individuo, se sintieron repentinamente apoyados sobre una base segura, más sólida, que presagiaba un hoy mejor y un mañana mucho mejor.

Después de gestiones inútiles ante Alemania y Rusia, el fundador y entonces dirigente del sionismo mundial doctor Teodoro Hertzl, se dirigió como último recurso, al gobierno de la Gran Bretaña y, por primera vez desde la destrucción del Estado judío en el año 70 de la Era Cristiana, las negociaciones entre Inglaterra y los judíos se llevaron a cabo en un plano de perfecta igualdad, de Estado a Estado. Claro está que la actitud inglesa ha sido eternamente arcaica por parte de todo el pueblo judío y, en realidad, Inglaterra no podía expresarse otra cosa: "Y así, después de deshechados los proyectos de Uganda y de Ali-Arish, se llegó finalmente a la declaración Balfour que fue dada a conocimiento del mundo, el 2 de noviembre de 1917. Fue un simple gesto del pueblo inglés y de su gobierno que con firmeza, una vez más, el es, el Cuando apareció el documento, los judíos lo tomaron con recelo, casi con indiferencia. La emigración a Palestina se hacía lenta y sólo después de una ardua campaña en que era necesario una fue propagada entre la perseguida masa del pueblo judío para lograr apenas una emigración a Palestina en proporción mínima. Tan acostumbrado estaba el judío al dolor y a la persecución, que no podía concebir un mañana mejor o un mejoramiento del estado de cosas. Y, debido a eso, la declaración Balfour no fue aprovechada por el pueblo judío en momentos en que pudo haberlo hecho.

Por otra parte, y desde un principio, el mandato de Palestina fue entregado a ingleses conservadores, antisem tas en la mayoría de los casos. Para ellos, la declaración era un simple documento como tantos otros; una declaración vaga, imprecisa, según ellos los "obligaba" a interpretar la constantemente pero a su gusto. Al respecto ya nuestro gran escritor Nordau se había mostrado celoso. Desde el primer momento y cuando le fue entregada la declaración para que le diera su "visto bueno", se mostró inconforme con su contenido. Empezó entonces a pedir una declaración más concisa, más concreta y la única que entonces obtuvo fue la burla de los demás líderes sionistas. Más adelante, los mandatarios ingleses se encargaron de justificar los temores de Nordau y, en un constante afán de oponerse a la creación del Estado Judío, se turbaban, por todos los medios a su alcance, el movimiento nacional renacentista.

En todas las oportunidades se opusieron a la compra de tierras; a la emigración y a la reconstrucción del país hebreo a cabo por los judíos. Si bien ellos muy bien quien causaba los disturbios, quién los empezaba y quien los ter minaba y, sin embargo, el Parlamento británico pedía saber la verda... sabían que la causa de todo era "el factor judío". Durante los 26 años, buscaron apoyo por todas partes lo encontraron; los Muftis y Effendis árabes se prestaron sus fines gustosamente hasta que llegó el colapso, la publicación del "Libro Blanco" y con él, el fruto de todo un cuarto de siglo de intrigas criminales.

Hoy en día, las cosas han cambiado radicalmente; el espíritu conservador ha sido reemplazado por el espíritu li beral; la administración colonial británica ha cambiado, tanto en el elemento humano como en los métodos de gobierno y un nuevo "ente" de justicia parece estar germinando en todo el Imperio inglés. Todas estas transformaciones, así como han de afectar a indúes, árabes y negros, habrán de afectarnos a nosotros también como parte integrante de ese Imperio. Tardé o temprano, el "Libro Blanco" será abolido; tenemos absoluta seguridad de ello, porque decir Inglaterra, es decir "Carta Magna", es decir "Estatutos de Oxford".

(Washington) — Truman anunció que el gobierno de Estados Unidos ha aceptado la sugerencia de Gran Bretaña de establecer una comisión anglo-norteamericana para el estudio del problema de Palestina. Truman mostró una copia de la carta enviada a Attlee el 31 de agosto solicitando autorización para la admisión complementaria de cien mil judíos en Palestina, lo que fue rechazado por Attlee. En la carta dice Truman que el problema principal de Palestina y de ayuda a los judíos europeos estropeados en la "vacuación rápida en el mayor número posible de judíos sin hogar que desean ir a Palestina. Truman dijo que ha aceptado la sugerencia de formar el comité porque "tenemos extraordinario interés en el asunto y creemos que tal comité puede ser de gran ayuda en el desarrollo de la solución a un tiempo justa y humanitaria. Truman indicó que el comité tendrá cuatro funciones principales: una estudiar las condiciones económicas, político y sociales de Palestina en relación con el problema de la inmigración suda... Dos: estudiar la situación de los judíos en Europa que han sido víctimas de la campaña de persecución y señalar medidas prácticas que puedan tomarse para que aquellos que desean vivir libres y efectuar una relación de cuantos judíos desean o venso forzados a emigrar a Palestina y otros países fuera de Europa. Tres: tomar declaración a testigos y oír la opinión de los árabes y judíos versados en el problema de Palestina y hacer sugerencias para la solución interica del problema y para la solución definitiva. Cuatro: presentar otras propuestas de solución a Gran Bretaña y Estados Unidos para la solución del problema en Europa y facilitar su emigración y establecimiento en países fuera de Europa.

MOLOTOV SPEAKS

A 19th night ago on the occasion of the celebration of the 25th anniversary of the Socialist Revolution of the Soviet Union, Molotov's theme in conjunction with International Politics was directed principally on the question of the Atomic Bomb and he added that his Government will have the Atomic Bomb and many other things. He also contended that the control of Japan should be the combined high Allied Powers be the same manner as the military control of Germany and not the exclusive administration of the United States.

It has been further gathered that the Russian Ministers of Foreign Affairs mentioned that Great Britain, the Soviet Union of Russia and China; each has augmented the preponderant role in line with the United States in the Pacific war and in consequence the right to rule is not solely vested with the United States.

J. C. CHURCHES CAN'T WHIP ATOMIC BOMB

HARPER'S FERRY, W. Va. (ANP). — "How can segregated YMCAs, Churches and schools develop the kind of thinking which will help win the race against the atomic bomb?" was the question raised by Dr. Raymond Logan of Howard University in his address before the eleventh annual planning conference of the Washington Twelfth Street Y here at Storer College Sunday.

Other speakers at the two-day conference of professional and volunteer YMCA workers were Col. Campbell Johnson of Selective Service; Capt. James L. Hicks of the War Department; Dr. Howard H. Long, assistant superintendent of the District of Columbia's public schools, and Lee Marsh of the Atlanta area of the YMCA.

contribute to the world peace, the Howard professor found dictators rampant in South America, exploitation rife in the colonies of Britain, Holland and France, and the other colonial powers of the world. While belaboring the colonial powers, Dr. Logan found no adequate answer in Haiti, Liberia or Ethiopia, where he said black men crush black men in the same cruel fashion that white men oppress them.

Said Dr. Logan, "Liberia's treatment of natives is abominable. There is no difference in the way that Americo-Liberian treat the natives and the way that the Dutch treat the Indonesians".

Turning to the race, which the world must make against the atomic bomb and World War III, Dr. Logan pointed out that the work of the international Labor organization, the World Trade Union Congress, and the International Organization for Culture and Education are steps toward winning the race. Dr. Logan also asked how could segregated YMCAs churches, and schools contribute to the kind of thinking which will help the world win the race against the atomic bomb.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Much of our discontent in life is due less to any lack in our own plot than to the seeming overabundance in that of our neighbour. If he had not so much we should discover fewer deficiencies for ourselves.

We are not so greatly dis-satisfied with what we miss as with what he possesses.

TO THE MEMORY OF ARTHUR NEVILLE CHAMBERLAIN

On the record of the fleeting years, we observed on Friday, eight days ago the loss of five years ago in conjunction with Great Britain as well as the appreciable world on a whole by the death of the Honourable Arthur Neville Chamberlain who had given way in May of the year 1940 to Lord Winston Churchill in the Premiership of Great Britain.

Arthur Neville Chamberlain who was an outstanding bearer of the lamp of Peace crossed the Great Divide on November the 9th, 1940. He entered his tomb with the dislike of many of his countrymen and others heaped upon him due to his pacific efforts and the policy of his government in those early days of the lightning nazi strides; — seemingly those who considered him a weakling had not full comprehension that the late ex-Primer was playing his divine role, if we be permitted to apply such a term; in the pursuance of his efforts for the maintenance of the peace of the world and the pacification of the European Agitators. However, those familiar with the histories of the great British Empire were cognizant of the fact that in every hour of emergency Great Britain finds its leader. As in the morning days of Lord Nelson — Lord Roberts — Earl Kitchener — Lloyd George — Baldwin and other illustrious sons who had played their parts a right before passing off the scene of actions, so was Arthur Neville Chamberlain the right man at the opportune moment.

Let a section of the human race dub him a bell hop to the Third Reich of Germany and the other places where the conferences were conducted; let them think of him as a man who had bowed to the then raging Hitler, but all those who live in a universe of rightful thinking will do honour to the name of Arthur Neville Chamberlain; that marvellous apostle of peace — the British statesman who had fully realized that Great Britain was caught in the flood of aggression and not fully prepared to meet it; so wonderfully, in his own medium, on his knees, and with iron hand he muzzled Hitler and his henchmen and with the other hand he signalled his Government and loyal peoples to whip themselves into shape to stem the flood and at the same time his effort served as an eye opener to the other free and peace loving nations of the universe; thus we believe the foundation was laid for the Allied Victory. In our own soul we do honour to the memory of Arthur Neville Chamberlain on the occasion of the fifth anniversary of his death.

JAPANESE MAKE FRIENDLY MOVE TOWARD TAN YANKS

TOKYO. — Japanese inhabitants of the Tokyo - Yokohama area are rapidly becoming accustomed to the ebony faces of Negro troops among our occupation forces, and their initial awe and un concealed curiosity is being replaced by friendly overtures.

Hundreds of Japanese stevedores, working under the supervision of Negro non-coms on the Yokohama docks are exchanging Japanese words and phrases for a collection of pure Harlemese that is likely to throw consternation into the ranks of those Japanese who are now expressing alarm over the existing state of culture in the nation.

TWO NEGROES IN TOKYO
Though no Negro troops are presently assigned to Tokyo proper, every trip of the steam and electric trains coming up from Yokohama brings in Tan Yanks, sightseeing bent, into the big city. With a sense of direction that is almost incredible, they immediately discover the locations of the only places in town where a fit ten minutes wait in line will garner a bottle of beer. With equal astuteness they discover places of amusement which the brilliant minds of commission officers have missed entirely.

T/4 John Fuster of the 234th Port Company, a former sports writer for the Cleveland Call and Post, was among the first of the Tan Yanks to squeeze through the official blockade at the outskirts of Tokyo.

LOOKING FOR BEER
In the beer line outside of a slightly damaged cafe, a few days ago we spotted Pfc. Leroy Branch, Chicago; Corp. John Talley, Dayton, Ohio; Corp. Ernest Barron, Newark, N. J., and Corp. Jesse L. Sherbin, Ferreday, La., of the 432nd Port Company; T/4 William Bacon Jr., New York City; T/4 James Banks, Richmond, Va.; T/4 Oliver J. Hill, Washington, D. C., and T/4 Arthur A. Thompson of Baltimore from the newly arrived 220th Port Company.

Near the ground of the Imperial Palace watching the giant carp swim about in the Empero Park, were Pfc. James Penn Guthrie, Okla.; Pvt. Raymond Thomas, San Antonio Texas, and Pfc. Alberius Herndon of Houston, Texas.

VISIT JAPANESE HOMES

This trio, attached to the 495th QM Service Company, declared that they had visited several Japanese homes and had been received with greatest cordiality and permitted to listen to the szechey family photographs. Two records were recorded by Jimmie Luncford's orchestra.

Pvt. Harry C. Davis and Pvt. Harry Ervin, Chicago; Pvt. Roy Francis, Oakland, Calif., and Pvt. Henry Du Pre of Los Angeles, were found "hitting the line" outside one of the few remaining department stores in the business sector. "We have encountered not the slightest sign that the Japanese regard us as anything but Americans. They show no signs of having been bitten by the virus of race prejudice," said Private Davis as his friends nodded agree "such a situation is almost pay ment for having to stay in this neck of the world when we'd all like to be on the way back home, Jim Crow to the contrary notwithstanding". Then I nodded agreement.

PLANS TO START NEW LIFE IN BRITAIN'S GOLD COAST

NEW YORK — A 35-year-old U. S. Negro has written a letter to Lord Halifax, British Ambassador to the United States, asking the chances of starting a new life in the British colony of the Gold Coast, West Africa. He is Allen E. Webb of 505 West 148th Street, New York City. Mr. Webb served in the United States Merchant Marine during the war.

"During a visit to the Gold Coast while on war service," he says in his letter, "I was immensely impressed with the British colonial system as it is operated here, and was inspired to... offer my services in carrying an exemplary ideal to fruition.

LIKES BRITISH POLICY

"... I am convinced that Britain has conceived and put into practice in the Gold Coast, a policy that holds promise of the maximum development of the resources of the colony, together with a commensurate degree of material well-being for the African people". Mr. Webb is married and has one child. He is at present employed by the U. S. Army in the accounts division.

"Mr. Webb first came to know the Gold Coast while serving on the Patrick Henry first of the Liberty ships. He told a reporter:

"In my travels over a large part of the world, I have rarely seen anything so impressive as this British colony.

"When my ship first arrived at Takoradi, the main port, I stood in amazement at the sight of an African, wearing an official British uniform, boarding our ship to conduct the business of the Port Authority.

"Equally strange was an interview with an African Customs official, who outlined the products obtainable, duty free, for souvenirs. But these two incidents proved to be merely prelude to a more complete observation of the African's role in the British colony, his complete integration into the economic life of the land with British guidance and assistance.

SEERS OFFICIALS

"Later I was to see an African postmaster, an African wireless operator. Then there was a meeting with an African lawyer of great renown, a railway traffic manager and a police commissioner.

"Two shipmates fell sick and I took them to Takorandi Hospital, my shipmates submitted to minor operations, conscious of the emphatically hygienic conditions and the skill of the African medical assistants.

PRIMITIVE PICTURE FALSE

"By this time it was clear that where life once moved to the rhythm of tribal quarrels, and ward self-rule. The hospital, fully decimated by disease and fratricidal warfare there is now a thriving community headed to ward self-rule. The hospital and schools bear testimony to the huge sums spent for the improvement of health and education.

CHICAGOAN NAMED TO UNITED STATES GOVT

Washington — Following a $10,000 A YEAR

his nomination by President Truman last week to the judgeship of the U. S. Customs Court in New York City, Irving C. Mollison, a Chicago attorney and native of Vicksburg, Miss., declared: "This is another expression of the President's announced policy of justice and fairness to all Americans".

A member of the Chicago Board of Education, Attorney Mollison's nomination requires senatorial confirmation. His nomination was made upon the recommendation of Attorney General Tom C. Clark, who personally escorted Attorney Mollison to the White House, where they conferred with the President.

Located at 201 Varick Street in New York City, the Customs Court has jurisdiction over questions arising out of the importation of merchandise. It has a presiding judge and eight other judges. The post carries a $10,000-a-year salary and life-time tenure.

Representative William L. Dawson of Chicago supported Attorney Mollison for the position, and said: "I am happy to learn of the appointment. I have known Mr. Mollison for many years and I know he will fill the position with honor and distinction and will be a real asset to the Federal judiciary".

Attorney Mollison also had the support of Senator Scott W. Lucas, Representative A. Rowan and Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago.

FIRST TIME IN HISTORY

Attorney General Clark said Attorney Mollison would succeed to the vacancy created by the death of the late Tom Walker, a brother of the former Postmaster General Frank C. Walker, to which Representative Jed Johnson

REVEREND AND MR. W. JAMES EVANS HAS LEFT OUR CITY

Nearly six years and a half ago, on July 5, 1939, the Reverend and Mrs. W. James Evans came to this city of Limon to labour in this section of the Vineyard of our Blessed Redeemer, under the banner of the Anglican denomination; they occupied the rectory of St. Mark's.

With these two Christian Pilgrims there soon came into being a new emphasis on certain very simple and elementary Christian truths and with gratifying results. The Rural Dean of Costa Rica and Panama, although a preacher of outstanding order, had demonstrated deep interest in human material sufferings, human necessities, interest in helping human improvement and a general higher standard of living, on the background of these he had traits of humour. If we be permitted to borrow an every day word, we might say, "He had no stand-off ness" in his spiritual career, these virtues stood him in good stead on many difficult and untoward occasions.

As a preacher he never preached above his congregation. He knew and followed the tenets of the Divine injunction "Feed my Lambs", but you must not put the food out of the reach of the lambs.

During the period of his ministry among us, the Reverend Evans had done much to regenerate life, religiously, socially, do mestically, morally and personally; insisting upon the pre-eminent importance of a sense of duty in all the relations of life. Time and again we have listened to his words of inspiration as well as illuminating instructions especially to our Young People to have them shape their lives in all acceptable and worthy manner.

We have seen Father Evans as he was so affectionately called and as Director of the Limon No 1 Brigade of the Red Cross, administering to the injured at his own First Aid station at the rectory; we have seen him, too, leaving the rain floods of last year on work of mercy in the floody regions of Estrada-Matinal we have seen him hastening to the bedside of the sick, at nerve red in hospital; we bear testimony and not without admiration that as Commissioner of the

May those whom he has trained be in the front of the future to live in the ideals which he has left them.

Mrs. Evans has also marvelously aided him in the work, particularly with the various auxiliaries of the St. Mark's Church; among these, nearest and dearest to her is the Mothers' Union.

On Sunday the 11th instant, the commemorative Armistice Anniversary date, the Dean and his esteemed wife departed by ocean transportation on the first lap of voyage to their home in England.

BRITISH NATIONALS FETED AT THE PANAMA BRITISH LEGATION

His Britannic Majesty's Minister to Panama and Costa Rica, His Excellency T. Gordon Irving, C. M. G., had a few weeks ago given a reception at the British Legation situated in the Panama exhibition Grounds.

The fete is said to have tendered to more than one hundred British residents of different localities in the Republic of Panama; as a tangible acknowledgment of the Legation's appreciation and gratification for the services rendered during the war by the British West Indian Colony of that Republic.

We are moved by the Panama happenings to recall with pleasure the visit to this city and the throng of British Nationals and others in the hall of the St. Mark's Parish and there listened to the illustrious and very memorable address of the then British Minister, His Excellency Charles Dodd.

His closing remarks are summed up as follows.

"Before sitting down I should like to add that though we here, in this peaceful country, may be far removed from the actual scenes of warfare, we can all do our bit towards achieving the victory which we all desire. Our soldiers, sailors and airmen who are fighting our battles

THE FUTURE AERIAL DEFENCE OF THE UNITED STATES

A Washington release gives the information that General Doolittle informed the Committee of Military Affairs of the Senate that the Army aspire to count on the post-war with a fleet of five thousand airplanes ready to enter in immediate service; four hundred thousand officers and men, in addition to the national guard;—very ample as could be desired the United States. Declaration was effected in favour of the aerial force under the jurisdiction only of the Department of Nat. Defence. Five thousand airplanes ought to be in the aerodromes ready to be utilized at any moment with a reserve tactic of another three thousand. The fighting air force to consist of seventy groups in comparison with the fifty eight groups of the English Air Force in British bases; comprehending twenty five groups of heavy bombers in sixteen groups of fighters of ample radius of action.

Reference was made to the vulnerability of the United States in attacks to cross the polar regions and said that the United States is actually manufacturing a plane with twice the radius of action than the Superfortresses, but which was requisite to detach that the United States have not the monopoly over the planes of very high flights; mentioning that the Japanese succeeded to manufacture a bombing plane which flies without the series of harmonic proportion 16,000 kilometers in proof flights and that the aerodromes of Lockheed from where the North American Superfortresses left for the flight to Washington having been constructed by the Japanese as base for bombers against the United States. Continuing we gather that the General informed the Committee to consider the imperative necessity of the unification of the armed forces, acknowledging the greater importance of the aerial forces.

He is quote! saying that the cruiser was in process of decadency during twenty years and that in a period of ten it is converted in an antiquated thing; that the aeroplane carriers have reached their maximum of efficiency and now initiating its period of decadency. The aeroplane carriers says the General, have two characteristics; First: Can go from one side to the other and secondly, can be sunk. But when we have aeroplanes with sufficient radius of action there will be no failure for aeroplane carriers, concluded the declaration.

WITH APOLOGY TO THE MEMBERS

On Monday night of the week in course, the beautiful November moon with her brilliancy had enhanced our desire for a stroll, but go not think there was an Eve, it was a lonesome walk, which placed us into the Hall of the St. Mark's Parish and was in the very presence of the Victory Dancing Club. If we dare to call names at this time, of the members comprising the Victory Dancing Club, no doubt would follow the deduction — "Let no such man again enter our private retreat". However, we have the liberty to mention that the spectacle became entitled to the appellation of an enchanted spot; the dancing was inviting; with a mingled scene of graceful participants, tripping the measures of the "Eighteenth's" - Quadrille - Lancers - Caledonia - Sir Roger — and other high gear ball room exercises. Yes, we saw the selected membership in their practice; they were as blithe as could be; fresh in their enthusiasm; as fine in their appreciation; as generous in their praise to the musicians who were spreading the medium for the enjoyment.

The gesture reminds us of our own days before our look were gray; we were then musicians with the mouth — organ — tambourine — bottle and comb; if Messrs. Perey, Gibbs and Derby heard our song, they would have had to set up and take stock.

To learn more about the Victory Dancing Club dear readers you must wait a little longer; there is a good time coming; brothers Joe N. and Wilfred S. have promised us. That's that.

Mr. S. J. Phillip, a native of Alabama is now the owner of the property on which the great negro educator, Booker T. Washington first saw the light of day; some time about 1858 of 1859.

On being interested in the very significant spot, Mr. Phillip is said to have sought its purchase from Mrs. Postia Washington Pittman, the only living daughter of Booker T. Washington, the Founder of the Tuskegee Institute. The costly Rocky Mount home of the educator was sold for the specific purpose of erecting a Memorial in appreciation of Washington's marvellous accomplishments.

Eighty four years or age is not too old to learn the classics as can be gathered by the action of Edmund Hercules Adams who was born in North America and is reported to have recently entered Washburn University to resume the unfinished portion of education which had experienced a set back, fifty one year ago at the completion of his high school credit. By his entry into the college, Mr. Adams is quoted saying — "He always wanted to go to college and the opportu nity moment has just arrived."

"MR. GODFREY H. DOWNER IN SAN JOSE"

Among the recent arrivals to Costa Rica is to be found in San Jose an outstanding citizen of the Republic of Panama.

Our correspondent happened to encounter the aforementioned gentleman at Hotel California.

Due to indisposed health, Mr. Downer was unable to exchange views with our representative, yet he has promised us an interview for publication in our next issue.

In the meantime The Atlantic Voice takes this medium to express to him a right hearty welcome. Trusting that he will soon get well and be able to enjoy our delightful climate.

THE GREAT UNREST

Humanity is obviously restless. It would appear as if the international angry billows have only stayed for the copious influx of internal tides to rise and wash the shores of many countries.

Comparatively, it is just a few days ago China eked out of the bloody Japanese battle and now the wave of civil war is rising to a perplexing height. Some Chinese in the wake of communism are said to have been showing their desire "To rule the Poast". The Chinese Communists have won the day in a recent battle occurred in the south of the province of Hupeh; the situation increased in tenacity that, according to the report, the Government of China had to take the field with 90 divisions with a view of terminating the communists' uprising.

In Java there has been weeks of civil disturbances. Grave disturbances are said to be in Budapest; all attributed to the Communist Party who attempted to break up a popular demonstration in tribute to the thirty anniversary of King Mihail, open conflict has been the result. Budapest reports that the communists were armed, and in trucks attacked the King's party — shouting "Long Live Groza" and penetrated into the royal grounds where about 50,000 were gathered in homage to his Majesty.

From Tripolitania came the news that more than one hundred Jews were killed in a disturbance by an attacking force of more than five hundred Arabs; all are said to have been arrested.

The rights of the ships of the nations to use the Straits of the Dardanelles is going Turkey an acid stomach. The great unrest is spreading and humanity is obviously powerless to stem the flow.

FROM ESTRADA

By our correspondent
On Friday morning, a week ago at the hour of three — thirty the district of Estrada was thrown into a panic with the shouts of fire "fire" wizzing through the air, coupled with the sounding of the whistle of the Agent of Police; all soon reached the scene of the place where the flames were escaping; discovered to be the residence of Mrs. May Blackwood. It was traced so far that the blaze had its start from the kitchen and Estrada would have suffered terribly had it not been for the very brave lads.

James Montique and Fred Lawson; these volunteer fire fighters got at the spot an time and rendered valuable assistance in the meantime others were arriving. The local Chinese merchants also got busy hurried to the scene with their extinguishers in augmenting the pouring of water drawn by several persons from tanks — wells, etc. to save the threatened disaster.

Mr. and Mrs. Blackwood are indeed grateful to all who rendered their assistance in their time of distress and by this medium say thanks.

BULLETINS FROM BRITAIN

HOW HE DIED

The official British report on Hitler's last days is written in calm, matter-of-fact language, but nevertheless contains the atmosphere of nightmare. How could it be otherwise? From the time he first caught the world's attention, the megalomaniac from Austria always seemed as if he had belonged in a wild dream. With his street-fighters, his Gestapo, his book-burnings, his concentration camps, his pogroms, his deliberate policy of mass extermination and all his other acts of limitless evil, he had such abnormality in him that there were moments when it was hard to believe he was quite real and not a projection of the mind's lurid imagining.

It was in keeping with his character, therefore, and with the character of his whole career that he died as the first, after hysterical soul-searching and nervous prostration, there was his April 22nd decision to meet his doom in Berlin with Eva Braun, who had enjoyed the peculiar glory of being his mistress. Then, on April 30th he revealed arrangements for their double suicide and cremation. Next, on April 29th, for some reason known only to themselves—possibly to achieve a measure of personal respectability in the eyes of history or because of some last-minute impulse of brooding romanticism—the two were wed and at their nuptial feast spoke of nothing but the deaths they were soon to die. And finally, at about midnight the next day, after the last farewells, they destroyed themselves, he with a gun and she with poison. But there was to be one more touch of the macabre. In keeping with the Fuehrer's instructions, Goebbels and two or three others of the faithful, moving like figures in a scene from hell, carried the bodies to a garden, drenched them with gasoline and set them aflame, so that no trace of them could ever be found.

Thus it was—and the British evidence is as conclusive as it can be—that Hitler with his Eva came to an end in dying precisely as the whole dark world of Nazism crashed down. As a finish, it was some better than the finish of Mussolini, and his Carlotta, but night-marish nonetheless. To the last the megalomaniac was like a figure in a wild dream. The dramatist will have much to work with here. One must assume that in whatever plays they write about it, they will make provision for devices—off stage or on—to suggest how terrible were the weeping and suffering of the multitudes not because this man died but because he ever lived.

NO MORE WAR TRIAL DELAI

It would be nothing short of an outrage to delay the Nuremberg war crimes trials until after the first of the year, as now said to be contemplated, to give the Nazi defendants more time to prepare their cases.

After the formal indictments were finally handed down, defendants were given a month to engage counsel and prepare their defense. That should be ample time for this purpose, bringing the start of the trials to November 20.

But now we hear the German counsellors are asking for more time and court observers are saying that they do not see how the tribunal could refuse them. Why not? Couldn't the court simply say "No"?

Two factors promoting delay are said to be the condition of two of the prisoners, Gustav Krupp von Bohlen, who is ill in a hospital and Rudolf Hess, whose mental fitness is still questioned. If Krupp remains too ill to stand trial, why could not the proceedings begin without him? As for Hess, he has been in Allied hands so long that it seems incredible that it is still undetermined whether he is sane or not. The summoning of a special psychiatrist from the United States to examine him is certainly carrying things to farcical extremes.

These defendants are our bitter enemies. They have proved

PRESIDENT TRUMAN AND THE BRITISH EMPIRE

LONDON, Nov.—London commentators call attention to the tribute President Truman paid to the British Empire in his speech at the White House on Saturday, November 10th, at which the British Prime Minister, the Right Honourable Clement Attlee, was the guest of honour. The Chief Executive of the United States said: "One of the great things of the British Empire is that when they have a foreign policy — and they always have one — the British people are behind this policy, no matter which Government is in power". This inevitably evoked Prime Minister Attlee's observation in his Mansion House speech, when he stated: "It is, I think, in these days, when we are considering how nations can live together and progress harmoniously, worthwhile to look at the example which the British Empire and Commonwealth can afford".

PRINCE TELLS OF DACHAU CRIMES

Scenes of appalling brutality, deaths from starvation, and of incidents of cannibalism at the notorious Dachau concentration camp are described by Prince Frederick Leopold of Prussia, a distant relative of the ex-Kaiser. The prince, who was interned there in 1944, has made a statement to the United States War Crimes Commission.

Persecuted for refusing to join the Nazi party, he was arrested in May, 1944, and later transferred from Salzburg to the Dachau camp hospital with diphtheria. There he saw patients who had died from starvation.

"Prisoners coming for medical treatment," said Prince Leopold "were kept waiting outside the hospital, 100 to 200 at a time. Stripped of their clothing, they stood for periods up to two hours during the coldest months of the year. Many died from exposure. Towards the end of March, 1945, trainloads of prisoners arrived at the camp. Many were dead on arrival, the living were terribly starved. As the carriage doors were opened, the dead fell out. Some of the prisoners in this new arrival had existed by eating human flesh".

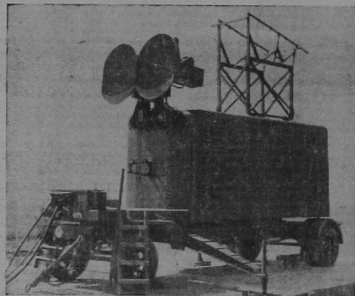

that in vicious deeds. Cradling treatment of them, an unjustified delay in bringing them to trial, should cease.

RADIO CONTROLS TRAINS

For the first time in Canada a railway yard is being completely operated by radio. Tests are being conducted at the Long Point yard of the Canadian National Railways with the cooperation of the Canadian Marconi Company. With the touch button contact is established between offices and locomotives. Instructions are given, received and checked in a matter of seconds. Ten locomotives and two yard offices are equipped with 50-watt transmitting and receiving sets. Central control units are located in the offices on the tender of each engine there is a steel — enclosed radio having an aerial similar to those used on automobiles. In each cab there is a control box with a loud speaker and microphone, which allows three-way communication among locomotives and with the central stations.

If the tests are successful, it is anticipated that the operating hours of locomotives will be considerably reduced while freight shipments would be speeded up by as much as 24 hours. The use of radio communication would bring about faster train movement with greater operating economy and efficiency, according to H. F. Finmore, chief electrical engineer, C. N. R.

RADAR IN BRITAIN ANTI-AIRCRAFT DEVICES

Pictures have now been released telling the story of Radar—the radiological developments which British scientists had in readiness at the outbreak of war. Years of research and experimentation in conjunction with Service experts led to the development of defensive devices which revolutionized war tactics. Later, offensive devices were evolved—Radar range—finders for guns for locating enemy surface and under-surface craft from both air and sea, air—craft attachments by which night fighters could locate enemy raiders, and bombers could bomb accurately through cloud, being a few examples.

SAVINGS PASS $10,000,000,000

The National Savings movement yesterday passed the $10,000,000,000 mark in savings raised since the campaign began at the beginning of the war, stated Sir Harold Mackintosh, chairman of the National Savings Committee.

"These astronomical figures," he said, "mean that during this period an average of four shillings out of every pound of private income has been saved and lent to the Government. And that was in addition to four shillings direct and two shillings indirect taxation on every pound. Thus, one half of the private income of the country has gone to the Government either as voluntary savings or as taxation".

National Savings averaged £32,000,000 a week since the campaign began. The tenth thousand million was obtained in 27 weeks at the rate of £37,000,000 a week. This high figure was due to the Thanksgiving Campaign, during which a record average of £74,000,000 a week has been raised.

Last week's "small" savings totalled £20,520,862, as compared with £21,646,582 in the previous week. Last week's total as made up of £6,473,596 from the sale of Savings Certificates, £9,489,560 from the sale of Defence Bonds, and £4,557,706 from an increase in the balance due to depositors in the Post Office Savings Banks and Trustee Savings Banks.

"MY DEAR DIZZY"

Here is the "Last Letter" of a British Secret Agent, smuggled home while he was awaiting death in Buchenwald Camp.

It is one of the most "humane documents" of the war and permission has now been received to publish in full.

The Agent, captured in civilian clothes by the Germans, eventually saved his life by inducing two German doctors who were conducting "human guinea-pig" experiments to transfer him to the special hospital wing. Later he persuaded them to exchange his identity with that of a French corpse.

The corpse was cremated in the writer's name. Then, in spite of his weakened condition the writer made a number of attempts to escape. Finally he broke out of a camp near the Bohemian border and led ten companions to safety in the American lines.
