News from Durban reports that a sanguinary battle took place between the rebels and the colonial troops, under Colonels McKenzie and Barber, in the valley of Mzimba. The rebels were defeated, leaving 350 dead on the battlefield, among them the celebrated Zulu Chief, Mkhoko. The colonials lost one captain and one lieutenant killed and 7 wounded. The natives fled in great disorder. It is reported that Bambetta was wounded in the engagement.

Governor Maroon returned from Bocas del Toro on Wednesday, where he went on the cruiser Columbia, on Sunday last. He expresses himself thoroughly satisfied with the manner in which the contract for the draining and filling up of the city is being carried out. The dyke has been completed and the houses raised from 4 to 6 feet. A cement sewer has been constructed in the centre, 6 feet wide, through which the sea will enter, carrying away all the dirt and refuse of the town. When completed, the work will equal that of Port Limón, the healthiest town in Central America, on the Atlantic side. Governor Maroon is of opinion that the same system will be of benefit to Colon.

News from Lancaster reports that an explosion took place in a dynamite factory at Pegues, killing 11 and injuring 5 persons; 12 houses were completely destroyed, principal occupants of which were women. The cause of the explosion is a mystery. The sound was heard 15 miles away. Varsovia news reports that the mutiny of Sunday resulted in the death of 6 persons. The disorder was organized as a revenge for the execution of the workman, Marewsky, in that city. The Chief of Police, Derkachoff, against whom so many attempts have been made recently, was shot on the street, while driving in his carriage. The coachman was seriously wounded; at the same time an attack was made on the secret police in another part of the city, one of them being killed.

The third anniversary of the assassination of King Alexander and Queen Draga was commemorated at Belgrade by religious ceremonies in the churches. At the same time the Rigidos celebrated a mass for the repose of the souls of their three companions who were killed on the same night. The authorities adopted the most extraordinary precautions to prevent any demonstration.

The London "Daily Telegraph" says: "It has been decided to abandon the construction of one of the two battleships of the Dreadnaught type, proposed for the coming year; this will be a saving of two million pounds sterling." The same paper says that the naval estimates for next year will also be reduced.

News from Durban states that Siganda, the Zulu chief, and his son have been captured at Kandilla, and carried to the British camp.

The statue to Alexander Dumas was unveiled with much solemnity in the Matesherbes square on Sunday.

The "Echo of Paris" states that on the recommendation of Dr. Lapoui, the Pope will go to Castelgandolfo.

On the 5th of July, anniversary of the independence of Venezuela, General Gomez will retire and General Castro resume the Presidency of that country.

The Royal Fusiliers encamped at Pakhurst refused to eat dinner served them, being American canned meats. All who could, purchased fresh meat and vegetable outside, while others who had no funds went without their dinner. The greatest indignation exists in consequence of the Department's continued use of American canned meats, after the recent exposure of the methods adopted at Chicago by the packing houses, and the discussion in the House of Commons on the subject.

King Edward in a closed carriage, attended St. Paul's on the consecration of the new chapel of St. Michael and St. George. The route from Buckingham Palace to the Cathedral was guarded by 1,000 police, in private dress. The police of Campeine, where John D. Rockefeller now is, fear that the anarchists will assassinate the oil king, as they have been informed that he is being watched to this end.

Colonel McKenzie's column attacked the rebels, who took refuge in the mountains. Hundreds of them climbed the trees, from whence they threw their lances at the troops but the colonial troops promptly shot them, 40 were killed in this manner. The total number of deaths amounted to 160. Darkness put an end to the combat. The rebels are practically defeated. It is reported that Bambetta, the rebel chief, died from the effects of his wounds.

The Spanish cruiser Extremadura sailed for Kiel, in company with the royal yacht Gerala and Mauricot, both of which will take part in the international regattas.

A fire in Barcelona destroyed the Theatre of Arts, the estimated loss is 500,000 pesetas. Twenty-one firemen were injured.

King Alfonso and Queen Victoria will be present at the Cowes regatta during August.

On Saturday last the statue to Sir William Verdon Harcourt was unveiled in the lobby of the House of Commons. Mr. Campbell-Bannerman presided, assisted by Lady Harcourt, Mr. Balfour, Mr. John Morley and several other members of both Houses.

The alarming mortality amongst children in Great Britain from abnormal diseases, has called for a National Conference, which took place on Saturday under the presidency of Mr. John Burns. In his speech, the President said that in the days when no one knew of tinied meats, and children were reared according to the laws of nature, the mortality was very insignificant. It is calculated that no less than one hundred thousand children died yearly through negligence, want of care and ignorance, and many of the tragedies were committed by mothers. The increasing death rate in children under five years was a reproach to the nation, and required a close inquiry into the causes.

The second reading of the bill authorizing the construction of small houses for the Irish peasantry, passed the House.

An extensive popular movement against tinned meats from the United States has commenced. The factories state that during the past ten days the sales have fallen off thirty-five per cent, and if the public continue the boycott of these meats, many establishments will have to close. Where one hundred tons of German sausage used to be sold weekly, only 25 is now disposed of. Replying to a question in the House of Commons, as to what steps have been taken to watch the manufacture of preserved meats intended for use in the British Army, Mr. Haldane, the Secretary of War, said that no English factory had any contract to supply the Army, but whenever they had, Army Officials would examine the factories and secure samples for official examination. Mr. Lea, the Liberal Candidate, proposed that expert officials be sent to the United States to examine the methods used in preparing preserved meats. Mr. Redmond said there was plenty of room to improve domestic manufacture. He asked for figures of the exact quantity of beef and other provisions sold by British houses, which were condemned during the Anglo-Boer war. In consequence of the refusal of the men of the Royal Fusiliers to eat American canned beef, the Army Council have issued an order not to serve the Imperial troops with it in future.

The "Morning Post" announces the rising of the natives in Central Nigeria. The British sub-commissary, Mr. Oswald Crews, has been assassinated in the interior of Osaiba. The Nigeria regiment has been ordered to march and an encounter with the rebels is expected shortly. The "Daily Telegraph's" correspondent in Tokio reports that the rebellion has extended to all the provinces of Corea. The insurgents have destroyed the towns of Comayag and Sunchaag, and are threatening other cities. The Japanese warships in the port of Yokohama have been ordered to assist the protected cruiser Ohigodo in chasing the Chinese pirates who infest the coast of Corea.

A boat arrived at Stellen, loaded with cattle infested with the Siberian plague, due, it is said, to the incapacity of the Russian Veterinary Surgeons.

Tokio news says the situation in the provinces of Chyongan, Kanguo and Chiolla (Corea) is alarming. The entire Korean peninsula is in a state of insurrection. Revolutionary parties are burning all the Japanese houses. Japanese women are taking refuge in Seoul; the Chinese pirates are taking part in the outbreak.

Baltimore news reports a fire at one of the largest wharves, where the immense merchandise store rooms took fire. The steamer Esser and several launches loaded with cotton and turpentine took fire. The losses are estimated at $600,000.

An enormous hotel is being built in Chicago, the cost of which will be $2,000,000 gold.

Despatches from Cairo state that during the march of the British troops from that place to Alexandria, 5 officers were invited by the authorities at Nurtanah, to go pigeon shooting. While enjoying their sport, they were attacked by natives with clubs, and their guns taken from them. Captain Bull and another captain were killed and one lieutenant injured. Many of the natives were injured in the encounter.

Backache, "The Blues" William Rockefeller's Rise From a Miller's Apprentice

Both Symptoms of Organic Derangement in Women—Thousands of Sufferers Find Relief.

How often do we hear women say: "It seems as though my back would break, or "Don't speak to me, I am all out of sorts?" These significant remarks prove that the system requires attention.

Read the convincing testimonials of Mrs. Holmes and Mrs. Cotrely.

Mrs. J. C. Holmes, of Larimore, North Dakota, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I have suffered everything with backache and female troubles—I let the trouble run on until my system was in such a condition that I was unable to be about, and then it was I commenced to use Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If I had only known how much suffering I would have saved I should have taken it months sooner.

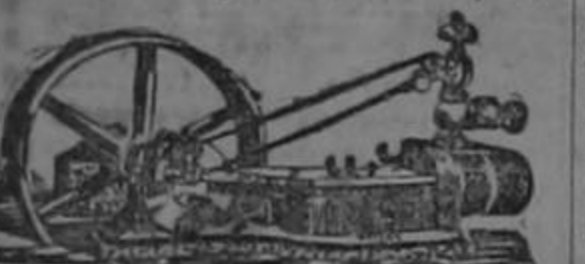

Mrs. Emma Cotrely, 109 East 12th Street, New York City, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I feel it my duty to tell all suffering women of the relief I have found in Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

ham's Vegetable Compound. When I commenced taking the Compound I suffered everything with backaches, headaches, and female troubles.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful periods, weakness, displacements or ulceration, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the female organs, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles. No other medicine in the world has received this widespread and unqualified endorsement. Refuse to buy any substitute.

Notwithstanding the tremendous demand on his time by reason of his newly-formed connection with the Vanderbilts, William Rockefeller found the opportunity to continue a campaign he had begun in 1896 for the purchase of lands in the Adirondacks.

At the time this election took place Mr. Rockefeller was the active man in Standard Oil, and was associated in the Board of Directors with his brother, John D.; H. M. Flagler, John D. Archbold, H. H. Rogers, W. A. Tilford, A. M. McGregor, Paul Babcock and C. M. Pratt.

William Rockefeller is intimately associated both by marriage and business relations with the most powerful moneyed interests in the world. He married the sister of James Stillman, President of the National City Bank, and this relationship brought him into still closer contact with the great fiduciary institution, and its head.

LIVE WITHOUT STOMACHS. The "Better" Half

Although the stomach is a valuable organ, it is perfectly possible to get on along without it, as was set forth recently by Professor H. J. Pierson, F. R. C. S., in a lecture delivered at the Royal College of Surgeons, of England, at London.

Nature has duplicated three of the four functions performed by the stomach, although the loss of the gastric secretion cannot altogether be compensated. "Those who have lost it," says one authority, "have one weapon the less in the struggle for existence."

WORDS OF WISDOM.

Inspiration is might; 'tis an exhortation. Faith in God makes some hope for man. Flashy people give the world little light.

The strong man never crushes the weak. Big conceits often go with small receipts. The best offering is that of our obedience.

Hatred breaks the heart in which it is born. Religion is more than a get-rich-quick system. Death breaks the shell to set the kernel free.

A man is not called pig-headed because he is greedy of intellect. You do not win a front seat in Heaven by taking a back seat in church.

The great objection some men have to the sun is that it shines on others. It takes more than a brotherly manner to make up for a lack of business method in a religious work.

Many men think they would obey the Ten Commandments if they could just clip off one or two.

If life is a voyage, the cargo and the port are of much more importance than the ash that may be caught on the way. When the cracked choir sings, "O for the wings of a dove," they can be sure of the congregation being with them on that—Ram's Horn.

1 ARTIFICIAL TURKEY RAISING.

Hatching is Now Done Successfully, But Brooding is Yet Experimental. Incubators have for some time been hatching duck and hen eggs successfully and now they are being used for the purpose of hatching turkey eggs.

There is no more trouble in hatching turkey eggs in incubators than other eggs, but up to this time little success has come from rearing them in brooders.

Neither pleasant nor turkey chicks seem to do as well in brooders as with hens. We hear of some doing well with turkeys in brooders, but have not, up to this time, met with anyone who felt warranted in continuing the brooder method for poult.

Only those who can look upon life as a selfish standpoint, and pursuing false ideals, are blind to its splendid possibilities and its great rewards.

RICH MEN'S INSURANCE.

The Million Dollar Policies and the People Who Have Them. Men with large insurance formerly centered it among many companies.

The first $1,000,000 policy ever issued was taken out in 1887 by Mr. George W. Vanderbilt, at the age of thirty-five, in the Mutual. It is a 20-payment life, 20-year distribution policy; that is, he is to pay a yearly premium of $35,000 for twenty years.

The most heavily insured man in the world however, is probably Mr. L. Rodman Wanamaker of Philadelphia who carries $2,000,000 in the Mutual, in addition to insurance in other companies.

The largest policies of course, cost no more proportionately than smaller ones. Straight life insurance of $1,000 at the age of thirty costs $20 a year. For the same man, a $500,000 policy of the same kind would cost just five hundred times as much, or $15,000.

THE PULPIT.

AN ELOQUENT SUNDAY SERMON BY THE REV. HOWARD MELISH.

Subject: "Repentance."

Brooklyn, N. Y.—In Holy Trinity Church, Sunday morning, the rector, the Rev. Howard Melish, preached from the text, "From that time Jesus began to preach and to say, 'Repent.'"

I heard one of the ablest men in America, a man who had studied the popular mind carefully and observed it most keenly, say not long ago, that if he were young again the one message he would endeavor to bring home to his countrymen is—spirit, soul, manhood, make conditions, not conditions men.

Three forces are producing the opposite view. The first is materialism. Materialism as a philosophy is discredited. Twenty-five years ago it received tremendous importance through the formulation of a doctrine of evolution by natural selection.

The second is the teaching of some socialists. There is socialism and there is Christian socialism. Christian socialism endeavors to make a place in socialism for Christianity's emphasis on the individual.

The third force, laying stress on conditions instead of will and so weakening individual conscience, is Christian Science. At first thought this may seem an utterly inconsistent statement.

Over against these three forces which weaken individual responsibility I would put the one truth of repentance. It is an old word with a long record.

In our Father's school are many benches. This life is school time. Whatever the word God writes on the top of your page—patience, courage, forgiveness, resignation—copy it over and over until He gives you another word.

Some time ago, in one of our magazines, there was an article entitled, "I Have Touched the Gold," the exclamation of a deep-sea diver who had just come up from exploring a wreck lying in the depths.

Mediterranean world and quickened individual responsibility.

How are we to arouse among us responsibility and quicken our individual and social penance. But is not that preached by every evangelist? It is, and some men are touched by it.

I appeal to the conscience of every man and woman here to-day. We are followers of Jesus Christ. Now, only His first word to the world is repent. He gave many more, but they all depend upon that for their real meaning.

Ends in an age where there is more wealth than in any age of the world before: when that wealth is attained by some men, not by hard labor of hands or brains, but overnight.

It is a message to those who have money. Search your consciences to see how you came by your wealth. Can you say with Zacchaeus, "Lord, if I have taken anything from any man by false accusation, I restore him fourfold?"

Money is sending thousands of men and women to what Jesus called hell, in this city. They got their wealth in defiance of God's and our country's law; they can only keep it by controlling legislatures and creating monopolies.

Therefore, to both alike, neither as rich or poor, but as men, conquered men, comes this message: Turn ye from your poverty and your wealth and with God's help stand forth free.

In our Father's school are many benches. This life is school time. Whatever the word God writes on the top of your page—patience, courage, forgiveness, resignation—copy it over and over until He gives you another word.

Some time ago, in one of our magazines, there was an article entitled, "I Have Touched the Gold," the exclamation of a deep-sea diver who had just come up from exploring a wreck lying in the depths.

Great occasions do not make heroes or cowards; they simply unveil them to the eyes of men. Silently and imperceptibly as we wake or sleep, we grow and wax strong, we grow and wax weak, and at last some crisis shows us what we have become.

Woman's Bad Days

The Lodge and the Church. In the minds of some the accomplishments of church and lodge are confused, perhaps naturally so. I remember an instance: A farmer living on a rather lonely road became ill, and after some weeks died, leaving his family with a mortgaged bit of land, many debts, barely furniture enough for the needs of life, and a life insurance benefit due from one of the fraternal orders.

Police in Panama like Comic Opera.

Says the "New York Herald" of 17th May: Seven months ago George W. Jimenez, who returned yesterday on the Royal Mail steamship Orinoco from Colon, sailed for Panama to spend a year teaching the Panamanian police how to behave and appear like their New York brothers of shield and baton. He felt forced to give it up in disgust.

Jimenez was a patrolman attached to the Madison street station, a native of Cuba, well drilled, intelligent, of fine physique, and, being master of the Spanish tongue, was accounted just the man to bring the municipal constabulary of the supposed ambitious young republic up to the approved American standard.

Being a plain policeman, unused to political tangles and military operations, Jimenez surrendered his contract for $3,000 a-year, accepted his salary up to July, and took passage to New York. With him came his wife, a New York girl, and two lively little ones, whose baby English has become very much mixed during their short stay near the Canal Zone.

"It did not take me long," he said, "to conclude that our people are being deceived, so far as there is any real intention of the Panamanians to improve is concerned. They pointed to my engagement as proof of their determination to abandon all their old and outrageous police methods, and then tied my hands so I could not change their methods."

Prisoners, including Americans, were abused and I was held responsible. I made more than fifty recommendations. Only one—a change of hours—was acted upon. On arrival, I found a list of 360 policemen, of whom not more than 150 were doing daily duty. These were mostly pensioners of former revolutions. There were cripples, some without arms, and some with wooden legs. In several cases the patrolmen were almost totally blind. A great part of the most were coachmen, butlers and waiters in the homes of government officials, for whom the law did not provide a salary. I called attention to this, and tried to have these men uniformed and put on patrol duty. I was told they were needed as servants and that the police roll was the only one they could be paid from.

The department resembled a charity organization, as we know it in New York. Mrs. Amador, who I found to be the real President of Panama, has more than one hundred friends in the force. "No two policemen are dressed alike, although I recommended the New York uniform. A recommendation for police telephone and patrol wagon system was also turned down. Men still leave their posts for hours to drag prisoners through the streets. A wagon could be used at fires and for accident cases—there is no ambulance service or any proper care afforded to injured persons. I especially tried to do away with the use of handcuffs, which the Panamanian policeman claps on all prisoners, no matter for what trivial offence they may be arrested. Then he actually pulls them along by main strength. My arguments against this practice were met with the statement that being a small man and the average American so large and strong the little policeman must use the handcuff or he never would be able to arrest an American.

MADE CLEAR TO HIM. "I received no written orders but my talks with various officials, including the President, made it clear I was expected to allow the police to be voted as often as possible in Panama and to keep them at it until it was too late for the Opposition to get in their votes. The force was being greatly increased, but I had no say as to the men appointed. They were put to no examination whatever. Some were being hustled to interior districts, and reports that came to me showed they were sent there to prevent the Opposition voters from registering or voting on election day. These citizens, I understand, are being arrested on any pretext. This is deemed necessary, as they greatly outnumber the supporters of the Constitutional or Government Party. After election, if the cheated party begins a revolution, I was told the police force is to be used to put it down. The only party I had any interest in was fair play.

PLACE TO LOOK FOR SHOWING Was There, but Not Where Captain Would Have It.

Thirty years ago, in Concord, N. H., Capt. Dan B. Newhall, now department commander of the G. A. R. of New Hampshire, was the owner of a billiard parlor, which will be remembered by all the old "boys" and some of the younger ones.

There came an evening when, as assistant chief of the fire department, he was obliged to attend a meeting at headquarters. His regular clerk was under the weather, and, thinking he would be away but a short time, one of the members of Kearsarge steamer 2 was put in to do the work, and, as he was very popular business was good.

The captain did not return until

Every Table Was in Use. Nearly time to close, but when he did every table was in use, with "wet" games the rule, and some "wets" with no game. As he looked the place over a broad smile lit up his face, and he made his way to the till to see the receipts. The smile suddenly faded away, and, turning to be near the bar, he said: "Ned, where is all the business? Not much of a show here."

With all the dignity his "load" would allow, "Ned" replied: "Never mind the till, Capt. Dan; just look at the slate."

Chew to Build Church. J. P. Withrow, a merchant of Hollis and Ellenboro, N. C., has a novel plan in behalf of the interdenominational church he proposes to build in Hollis. Tobacco tags, if this plan does not miscarry, are to serve as the financial foundation of the new place of worship. Already the tags are pouring in upon the devoted collector from many sources. Mr. Withrow hopes before long to have the building of the "tobacco tag church" under way.

Tommy's Acts of Kindness.

Governor Folk of Missouri, was talking about reform. "We all believe in it," he said, "but we want to see it brought about at other folks' expense. We are like, too like, a certain Kansas City boy. This boy's mother said to him on her return from a long day's shopping in the Thanksgiving season: 'Now, I hope my little Tommy has taken to heart mamma's talk of last night about charity and unselfishness. Since he has few troubles of his own, I hope he has thought of others' troubles all day long. Since he has many causes for thanking himself, I hope he has tried to give cause for thanksgiving to others. What is my Tommy's report for the day? How many acts of kindness has he done? How much woe has he lightened? How many hearts has my Tommy made grateful and glad?' 'In this way spoke the good young mother. And her Tommy replied: 'I've done a whole lot of good, ma. I gave your new hat to a beggar woman, and I gave the cook's shoes to a little girl in busted rubbers what I seen on the street, and I gave a poor lame shoestring seller pa's evening suit—the open front one that he hardly ever wears.'"

FIXING TIMES OF SEASONS.

Strange Customs Observed by Far Eastern People. The inhabitants of Borneo make use of the same means for fixing the times of their agricultural seasons as were used by the early Britons and in Egypt between 1000 and 2000 B. C., says the Journal of the Asiatic Society. They rely, that is to say, on the time of rising of certain constellations just before the sun—known to astronomers as their heliacal rising. Many ancient temples are found to be oriented to the point of the horizon which marks the heliacal rising of the constellations on a May morning. The natives of Borneo are using the rising of the same constellation as a guide to the proper time to prepare their ground to grow their food supply. When the dry season is perceived to be approaching two men are sent out into the jungle to observe where they watch, perhaps a few nights, perhaps a month, until the Pleiades are seen on the horizon just before the increasing sunlight causes the stars to fade. Then they return to the village and announce the fact. The inhabitants now know that work on the forest must be commenced. If by any means they have missed the heliacal rising of the Pleiades and have delayed operations till Orion's belt is seen rising just before the sun, they know that they must work double shift. The ground being cleared, they then wait till the Pleiades are at the zenith at sunrise before they set fire to the rubbish.

Russian Proverbs.

When the priest sits down to read mass the people lie down to hear it. When the thunder ceases the peasant forgets to cross himself. A man needs only not to be a cripple or a hunchback to be accounted a handsome fellow by the women. Even an old man can win a woman's love and keep it, if he isn't jealous. When a woman goes to heaven she wants to take her cow with her. Over the woman from afar the devil pours honey. When the devil cannot arrive in time he sends a woman on before him. Praise your wife, not three days after the wedding, but three years after it—if you can. All Christendom fasts in Lent except the dogs and the noblemen. Poverty is not a sin, but it is the cause of many. At home a man is judged by his dress; abroad, by his wit. Fellow-travelers and fellow-gamblers soon know each other well. A lie told cleverly may be truer than the truth told foolishly. Misfortune comes by the hundred-weight and goes by the ounce. Him whom God chastens men for slander mark. At him whom all men slander all dogs will bark.

Deterioration of Babies.

John Burns, the well-known English labor agitator, has just given a pronouncement on low birth rates and infant mortality. According to the way the Pall Mall Gazette of London interprets his words he does not desire that "desolating flood of babies" which some alarmed sociologists regard as the true sign of vitality in a race. He prefers quality to quantity, in this as in some other popular phenomena. "Not the greatest froggy, but marriage, is the virtue," and the mischief most to be deplored is that, as a London hospital surgeon said lately, "90 to 95 per cent. of the poor babies born were sound, strong, healthy young rascals, but they either went to the bad in the first six months through wrong or insufficient feeding, or died within a year." It is true, no doubt, that a man's reformation must begin with his grandfathers; to be quite satisfactory; but that is a consideration which applies to the main to the other 5 or 10 per cent. of babies only. The grandmothers of what ought to be a healthy second generation proceeding from the rest are very much in need of reform in the present year of grace. We could do with a low birth rate if it were quite the effect of wise and healthy motherhood.

His Source of Supply.

"Three-Finger Sam has the most wonderful line of talk that ever Alt Crimston Gulch," said Plute Pets, "loom". "I feel that ignorant I'm ashamed to converse with him." "Yes," answered Bronco Bob. "He takes an unfair advantage. There's no use o' tryin' to keep up with him in Wew-ern slang. He reads all them cow-boy novels the New York publishers are puttin' out."—Washington Star

Sleeps Wide Awake.

To all appearances and according to the researches of those best capable of forming an opinion on the subject, the nervous centres in one lateral half of the chameleon go on independently of those on the other, and it has two lateral centres of perception—sensation and motion—besides the common one in which must reside the faculty of concentration. Notwithstanding the strictly symmetrical structure of the chameleon as to its two halves, the eyes move independently of each other and convey separate impressions to their respective centres of perception. The consequence is that when the animal is agitated its movements resemble those of two animals, or rather, perhaps, two halves of animals glued together. Each half wishes to go its own way and there is no concordance of action. The chameleon, therefore, is the only four-legged vertebrate that is unable to swim; it becomes so frightened when dropped into water that all faculty of concentration is lost and the creature tumbles about as if in a state of intoxication.

When a chameleon is undisturbed every impulse to motion is referred to the proper tribunal and the whole organism acts in accordance with its decrees. The chameleon, moreover, may be fast asleep on one side and wide awake on the other. Cautiously approached at night with a candle, so as not to waken the whole animal at once, the eye turned toward the light will open, begin to move and the corresponding side to change color, whereas the other side will remain for a longer or shorter time in a torpid, motionless and unchanged state with its eyes fast shut.—New York Herald.

The Small Girl Understood.

Apropos of the rapidly vanishing custom of saying grace at the table, a lady on one of the Guilford Avenue cars the other day was telling a friend how her little daughter exposed what she termed her domestic impety. "You know," she said, "Grace will never miss anything in life for the lack of asking; and, though I warn her repeatedly not to ask questions, she heeds me not at all. I took her to have tea with Mrs. Blank not long since, and she was perfectly delighted. She behaved like an angel until Mr. B. bowed his head to ask a blessing. Then she began to nudge little Mabel and to whisper. "Mabel did not reply, till a pinch more energetic than usual forced her to look up, which she did very respectfully. "What is your paper saying?" asked Grace, in a loud whisper. "Hush," said Mabel, reverently. "Tell me what he says," she persisted. "He is saying grace," answered Mabel, in a low tone. "Does he mean me?" "Mabel told her no, and tried softly to explain matters so she would be quiet. 'He is asking a blessing,' she said; 'just saying thank you.'" "Oh!" said Grace, with a very superior air; "you mean he is trying to be polite to Dad."—Baltimore News.

Bull Fighting Statistics.

"I am off to Spain," said a photographer. "The bull fighting season opens in April, and I must be there for the first performance." "The season," he said, "lasts seven months, from April to November. Each season there are on an average 500 fights and in each fight three bulls are killed, ten horses and a twenty-fifth of a man. The aggregate season's slaughter in the ring, that is to say, is 1,500 bulls, 5,000 horses and 20 men. "The chief matadors number twenty-five. They each earn about $9,000 a season. The ordinary helpers earn in a season only $500."

Construction of the Canal.

ANOTHER DISCUSSION IN UNITED STATES SENATE.

"From Gleaner."

In the United States Senate last week Senator Hale called up the joint resolution reported by the Finance Committee requiring the purchase of supplies for the Panama Canal of American production unless in the opinion of the President the prices charged are extortionate or unreasonable.

Senator Rayner, of Maryland, opposed the resolution, although he said one of the industries of his State would benefit from it. The resolution, he declared, closed to the United States every market in the world except the home market for purchases which would amount to hundreds of millions.

Senator Morgan discussed laws put in force by the President for the government of the Canal Zone which he declared to be an abuse of power. No member of Congress would dare to introduce such laws, he said. He mentioned as an instance the provision permitting the Governor to banish undesirable persons. This law was absolutely necessary to good government and the Canal Zone could not be controlled without it, yet the President had exceeded his authority.

Mr. Morgan declared that two years' experience had developed that the canal never could be built under existing laws. The affairs of the Zone had been placed in the hands of men who had no boundaries of power.

MILITARY RESERVATION.

Senator Morgan offered an amendment making the Canal Zone a military reservation and providing that all of its income should be set apart for the benefit of the Zone, to be administered for that purpose without having to be covered into the Treasury of the United States. This amendment provides for the payment of a duty of ten per cent, ad valorem on all goods imported to the Canal Zone from the territory not controlled by the United States.

That members of the Senate have no disposition to sidetrack the canal type issue was shown to-day when for three hours Senator Kittredge, of South Dakota, received the closest attention while he advocated the sea level.

Mr. Kittredge compared the sea level plan of the majority of the board of consulting engineers with the lock canal proposed by the minority, declaring the sea level type had every advantage of permanency, simplicity, lower cost of maintenance and safety. He presented letters from ship owners and captains having experience in navigation through the Suez canal highly favorable to the sea level type as against any lock canal.

While the capital of any lock canal must necessarily be limited, Mr. Kittredge said, and while this limit might prove an element of embarrassment, if not danger, to the American navy in time of war, there was practically no limit to the capacity of a sea level canal.

LITTLE ADVANTAGE IN TIME.

Senator Kittredge declared a sea level canal could be completed in from ten to eleven years at the outside, and, and it was a safe assumption that in the matter of time the lock canal would have no marked advantage.

Senator Kittredge estimated that the sea level canal would cost approximately $50,000,000 more than a lock canal, and he argued that the lower cost of maintenance, together with the increase of tolls resulting from the increase in commercial business through a sea level canal, would more than warrant the greater outlay.

The great dam at Gatun, the keystone on which the integrity of the whole lock canal rest, was attacked by Senator Kittredge, who presented a strong array of engineering testimony, throwing doubt on the permanency of that structure, for which no rock foundation could be found. He admitted that engineers of high standing had given their professional opinion this dam would stand, but he held it was not safe to accept a plan with a question mark against the integrity of the feature upon which the whole project rested.
