

THE TIMES Port Limon, Costa Rica (G. A.)

THE POLICY OF KING GEORGE V.

BY H. HYLTON.

If the avowed and sincere policy of King George V. be to pursue that of his illustrious father's sacred memory, then in the pursuit there must be expansion of it, else there will be no pursuit at all. Since the policy of King Edward VII was one of peace, then peace can only be attained by liberty. Not the liberty of licentiousness for licentiousness, but the liberty which aims at the achievement of the highest evolution of man; the being realising the purpose of his temporal or terrestrial privilege uses it to the benefit of his brother—man and country—a steward disposing to the glory of God. To live up to such a policy there must be national efficiency and probity so as to claim respect and gain attention, as any deflection from these will surely provoke slights and sneers.

All licentious liberty must be restrained. Since it exists and is expected to live for an indefinite period, yet the right arm of the law, the policeman's staff, the gavel, the bayonet and the bullet, the sword and the lance, the terror of Dreadnoughts and the furor of torpedoes must be brought to bear upon it, the moment it shows activity detrimental to the tranquility of man. However, the best means to check licentiousness is not in the punitive but in the educative. Chronic licentiousness is practically incurable. In the education of the youths of the realm—the moral education tempered with the principles of godliness you have the means to the end. The eternal principles of justice and equity must be brought to bear upon the faculties of the child, so that the propensities for good may be moulded to the man—the power that must combat and subdue all the inclinations and temptations to evil.

The child is the father to the man—the individual that makes up the nation, and that uses earth's resources to bless or to ban; in this very important embryo-man should the noblest principles of citizenship be instilled. Pour around him, pour into him the highest culture; bring to bear upon him all the pruning necessary to make the specimen ideal that is the hope and ambition of a truly civilized nation.

The subjects and well-wishers of the British King, do him honour when they fulfil their obligations in making the best citizens for the Empire and personally to so comfort themselves at home and abroad as to be models for other people to copy and thus elicit praise for the excellency of their demeanour.

An Omission.

Owing to the lack of space the address that was presented to the President at the Coronation Festivities, held in Limon on Thursday last was unavoidably crowded out. The address was a fitting one and referred in glorious terms of the ability of the President. In it the people thanked him for his hospitality shown them.

Suit Against Mr. S. A. G. Cox.

Claim is for 1,050 Pounds.

FOR SITTING AND VOTING IN LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL WHEN HE WAS NOT QUALIFIED.

Proceedings have been issued against Mr. S. A. G. Cox, the ex-member for the parish of St. Thomas, for sitting in the Legislative Council whilst he was not legally qualified to sit and vote on question before the House.

The proceedings were commenced yesterday by the serving of a writ on Mr. Cox by Mr. Eleazer Jones, a tradesman of this city.

Mr. Cox, as newspaper readers are aware, was returned at the recent general election as Legislative Member for St. Thomas, defeating his opponent, Mr. Cork, by an overwhelming majority. Mr. Cork, however, filed an election petition against the return of Mr. Cox on the ground that he was not qualified. The petition came on for hearing at Morant Bay before His Honour the Chief Justice, who two weeks ago delivered judgment. His Honour's judgment is still fresh in the minds of all readers. He found that Mr. Cox had not got the necessary residential qualification which he alleged that he had, and, therefore, found that he had not the qualification according to law.

Under the statute anyone can bring an action against Mr. Cox for sitting and voting in the Council whilst he had not the necessary qualifications, the penalty attached being £50 a day. This course has been adopted in the present case. The plaintiff has sued Mr. Cox for £1,050 for sitting in the Council for 21 days. Further developments are expected. The case is sure to prove interesting.

ANOTHER LIKELY CASE.

It is expected that another action will be launched against Mr. Cox, on the same lines as the above case. The "informer" is a gentleman residing in St. Thomas parish.

Lecture on Bananas

Messrs Laws and Merrill met the foremen of the banana gangs on Northern Railroad pier yesterday and gave them an extensive lecture on grading, etc. Shortly after a quantity of Receivers assembled for their instruction which was very interesting.

Coronation Presents.

London.—The Emperor of China's Coronation presents to the King and Queen reached England. They are packed in 40 large cases and are valued at £20,000.

POEM BY JAPANESE RULER.

London.—The Emperor of Japan has written a poem commemorating the Coronation of the King.

Paid for Her Kindness.

Mrs. Saunders, who occupies a stall in the market where she sells provision and fruits, was called upon to "stump up" $2.50 for being honest.

It appears that a policeman went up to her stall and purchased a pear, and while he was there another man with his son came up and bought a pear also; the policeman left a minute or two before the man and his son, and as he was leaving Mrs. Saunders noticed a small parcel in a waiter on the stall. Believing it was the property of the man who left last she called to him and asked if the parcel was his, he replied in the affirmative and the little boy that was with him took it.

About half an hour after the policeman that bought the first pear called upon Mrs. Saunders and asked her if she saw him leave a vial there, the woman said yes, but she had given it to the other native that came up after him. The man was sought after and found. The little boy accompanied him to the market and admitted that the woman had given him the vial which contained perfume. The right owner took it and left, but much to Mrs. Saunders' surprise the man returned with the vial of perfume and charged her $2.50 saying water was put into it. The woman with tears in her eyes reluctantly paid the amount as he threatened to carry her before the judge, and to avoid further worry the poor woman (as she said) paid the amount.

For his own Right.

Mr. Hill, a butcher, in the market, for having called upon the Manager of Hotel Miramar for his money was roughly handled and beaten by a policeman and carried to the cartel yesterday. It is asked—is this justice?

Exorbitant Fine.

A man named Jack, a beef cutter, employed by Señor Saborio, was ill-treated and carried to cartel yesterday. It is alleged that owing to some misunderstanding Saborio's manager and Jack had a free fight and Jack after getting the worse of it was put in charge, but before he was conveyed to the "college" the clerk of the market thought he had a lien on poor Jack's body, and with this view he too roughly handled the man. He was taken from the cartel, before the Judge who finished the job by imposing an unmerciful fine of $50 for having been the recipient of two good thrashings.

French Press on Attitude of Spain.

Paris.—The storm raised by the Spanish military activity in Morocco shows no sign of abatement. The French press is unanimous in condemning the attitude of Spain and the Nationalist sections are beginning to raise the "German bogey."

The "Patrie" declares that Germany is "poking up the fire" behind Spain. Meanwhile the latest despatches from Morocco show that Spain is carrying out her programme undertaken by the representations of the French Government and the protest of the Moors Alcazar is already occupied and Tentach soon will be. "La Liberté" says that the French Government has invited the Spanish Government to define with precision the motives, object and conditions of its military action at Alaraziz and Alcazar and France will decide what steps to take in accordance with the reply. "La Liberté" denies the statements that the Press of England has encouraged Spanish action. On the contrary it asserts, the British Government on two occasions has called the attention of the Government at Madrid in strong terms to the dangers of unnecessary military action.

Venezuela's Centenary.

Caracas.—The fact that the United States and England have not yet appointed representatives to the centennial celebration of Venezuela's independence which will be held in the first week in July, has caused much comment here. They are the only countries that have not responded to Venezuela's invitation. Spain, Colombia, Ecuador, Bolivia and Peru will send Ambassadors and the Argentine Republic, Germany, Brazil, Mexico, Chile, Haiti, Belgium and Italy will send special missions. Americans resident here have been hopeful that the United States would be represented by an Ambassador and a battleship.
